I am writing regarding the proposed SRP power line between the Schrader Substation. I agree with the route between Schrader Substation and Riggs Road. This route will have very little impact on existing residential areas and there is already an existing 69KV powerline.

I disagree with the last mile of powerline between Riggs Road and Hunt Highway. This should not continue to follow the railroad tracks as there is a high concentration of residences along this route. There are no existing powerlines along this route. The powerline should turn west at Riggs Road (where there is also an existing 69KV powerline) and then turn south on Arizona Avenue where it is mostly light industrial buildings.

Also it should be noted that the railroad tracks are not a thru track. The train rarely comes by and most residents in this area paid additional money for lots that backed up to the tracks.

I have included a map of the industrial/commercial and residential areas along the two routes.

Thank you,
